

SWWC Presents at DSU

On October 4, 2017, the Dakota State University (DSU) Department of Education sponsored a Technology/Diversity Conference for their students. This is an annual event specifically for their pre-service educators in both regular and special education. Four staff from SWWC attended and each gave a 50-minute presentation to the students. Feedback from the students was fantastic!

Heather Stolp, Autism Consultant, presented on Autism and Sensory Issues.

Melissa Andree, Behavior Specialist, provided tips on Controlling Your Classroom.

Kara Damm, Technology Integration Specialist and Certified Google Education Trainer, gave students lots of information on how to Save Time – Use GSuite!

Tina Kanthak, School Counselor at the Blue Mound Learning Center in Pipestone, spoke about Identifying Students with Mental Needs & How Teachers Can Best Support Them.

There were over 100 students in attendance and even some that traveled down from South Dakota State University in Brookings to attend the workshop.

It was a great day to connect with many pre-service educators and share more about SWWC, what we do, and the opportunities that are available to them upon graduation.
